

Student Information During Furlough Period

For all workforce members attending DAU training, you must confer with your home office (Finance, Human Resources, Training Coordinator, etc.) for specific guidance relative to travel during the furlough period of time.

DAU does not, should not, and will not provide guidance on travel policy to workforce members attending DAU training. Issuing travel guidance information/interpretation is the responsibility of the workforce member's home office/organization.

It is important to know that while attending DAU training (and only while DAU training) DAU expects the students to conform to the course/class furlough schedule for the duration of that class. This may be different than your normal home office schedule of furlough days. If for some reason the student can not comply with the DAU class furlough schedule, then you should cancel your reservation in your components registration system.
