

THE DANGER OF CAUTION

Look, Adirondack Kid!
That program team is in peril!

What a train wreck!
Let's go rescue 'em!

Whoa, not so fast, heroes.
I'm afraid I can't let you just dive in there. We've got to do this safely.

Who are you?

I'm Major Caution. I graduated Summa Lotte Karefullus from Standfast U,
and I'm here to help.

Great, we could always use another pair of hands.
Let's go...

Hold up there!
First you need to put these goggles on.
Then we do a risk analysis.
Step one is...

No time! They're in peril now!
We gotta act!

I'm afraid I can't let you do that,
Cap'n Cannonball!

Hey,
That's not helpful!

Created by Dan Ward, Chris Quaid, Gabe Mounce, and Jim Elmore

Safety is job one, you know.

Gee, I thought rescuing that project was job one.

Yeah, you're actually making them less safe.

Wait a minute, I recognize you now! Major Caution A.K.A. Mr. Timid!

Very clever, Cowboy, but I'm afraid figuring out my other identity won't help you.

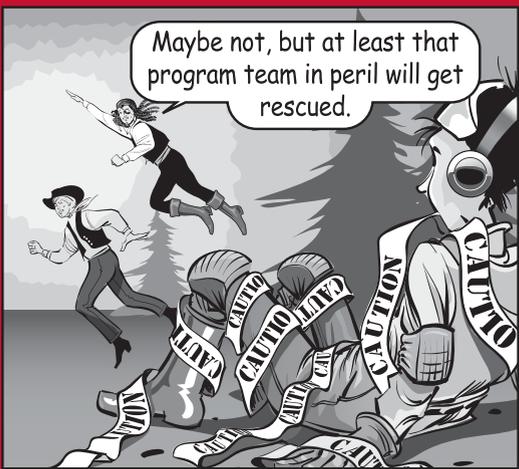

It's not me I'm concerned about — it's those people on the train!

That's the difference between us and you, Caution!

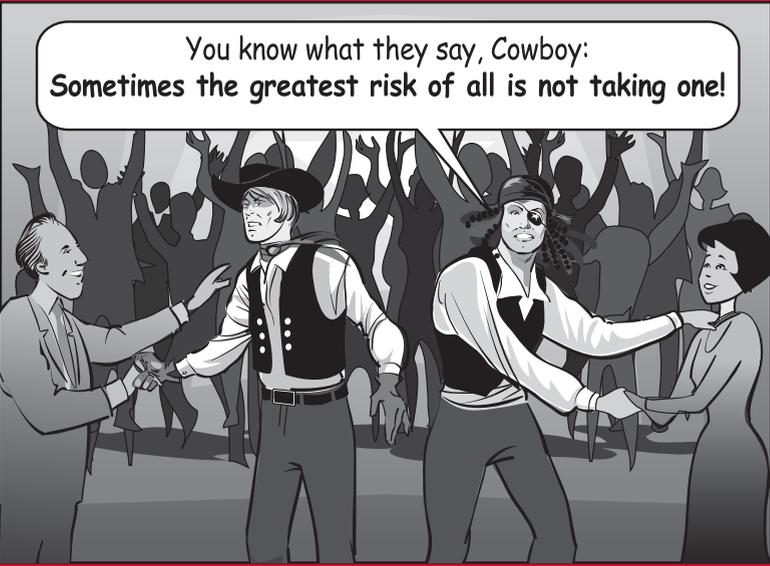

Now that we know who you are, we know how to handle you.

Hey, there are regulations, you know! You won't get away with this!

Maybe not, but at least that program team in peril will get rescued.

You know what they say, Cowboy: Sometimes the greatest risk of all is not taking one!